

United Nations Primer

John Trent
Laura Schnurr

A United Nations Renaissance

What the UN is, and what it could be

2018. 166 pp. Paperback.
19,90 € (D), 20,50 € (A),
GBP 17.95, US$26.00
ISBN 978-3-8474-0711-9

This short introduction to the United Nations analyzes the organization as it is today, and how it can be transformed to respond to its critics. Combining essential information about its history and workings with practical proposals of how it can be strengthened, Trent and Schnurr examine what needs to be done, and also how we can actually move toward the required reforms. This book is written for a new generation of change-makers — a generation seeking better institutions that reflect the realities of the 21st century and that can act collectively in the interest of all.

“A wonderful short book for non-specialists doing research on the UN. Clear disposition and enlightening questions lead from mere description of the institutions to important proposals for innovations. At the end of the book the nine popular proposals to transform the UN and the four steps for how we can help to bring about workable global institutions are unique in their originality.”

Klaus von Beyme, Emeritus Professor of Political Science,
University of Heidelberg. Past-president, International
Political Science Association

“A concise, crystal clear, superbly informed explanation of how the United Nations works — and why it matters.”
Michael Byers, Canada Research Chair in Global Politics and International Law, University of British Columbia

Prof. John Trent, Fellow of the Centre on Governance at the University of Ottawa, Canada, formerly professor and chair of the University's Department of Political Science and Secretary General of the International Political Science Association for more than a decade.

Laura Schnurr works on social innovation with the J.W. McConnell Foundation, completed an MA in Global Studies at the University of Freiburg, and runs a social enterprise operating in Canada and Uganda.

www.shop.budrich-academic.de

Available as ebook: 978-3-8474-0860-4